

Project Activity 6.1.2: Risk assessment of the introduction of foot and mouth disease (FMD)

Consultation on risk assessment of the introduction of FMD into the northern part of Cyprus

Date: 23 November 2022
 Venue: FS project office
 Target group: representatives of VD

General objective:	Enhance the knowledge of representatives of veterinary administration and other as relevant staff on the early detection, control and eliminatig high impact/exotic animal diseases and maintenance of favourable animal health status
Specific objectives:	Explain and showcase: - process of the qualitative risk assessment of the introduction of FMD into the northern part of Cyprus; - the methodology of expert elicitation process; - identification of the risk management options based on identified level of risk.

Speakers: Dr Viktoria Lets
 Senior Non-key Expert

Dr Mina Barova
 Team Leader / Key Expert 1

Flow of the consultation steps		Material ID
08:45	Registration of participants
09:00	Presentation of the objectives of the consultation and flow of the steps	6.1.2.B
09:10	The process of the qualitative risk assessment of the introduction of FMD into the northern part of Cyprus. The role of experts in the qualitative risk assessment	6.1.2.C
09:30	Expert elicitation process: methodology	6.1.2.D
09:45	Expert elicitation process: - presentation of collected data on each step of the risk pathways - assessment of each step of the risk pathways using the electronic voting system Mentimeter (first round)
10:30	Coffee Break
10:50	Expert elicitation process: - discussion of the identified level of risk on each step of the risk pathways (first round) - assessment of each step of the risk pathways using the electronic voting system Mentimeter (second (final) round) - discussion of the identified level of risk on each step of the risk pathways (second round)
12.15	Coffee Break
12.30	Discussion of the possible risk management options based on identified level of risk
13.00	Q&A and conclusions

"Consecutive interpretation to Turkish will be provided throughout the consultation"